W. Germany Turns Down Soviet Bid

Doesn't Want Paris Rearmament Parley To Suffer Any Delay

BONN, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP)—West Germany made plain today it wants no part of Russia's projected all-European security conference—either Nov. 29 or later—at the price of delay in ratification of the Paris accords for German rearmament.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government rejected Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's conditional offer Saturday to postpone the security parley which Molotov originally proposed be held in Moscow or Paris next week.

Molotov's condition was that the West, which had manifested no intention of attending such hurry up talks until the Paris accords are out of the way, hold up the ratification.

New Attempt To Hinder

In a statement paralleling views expressed in Washington, London and Paris, Adenauer's government said:

"This is simply a new attempt by the Soviets to hinder the ratification of the Paris agreements. Without doubt this represents an attempt by the Soviet Union to put very heavy pressure on the West."

"On the other hand, the Soviet Union is not prepared to make any real concessions to the West in the event the Western Powers should abstain from ratifying the Paris agreements.

"A change in the present German viewpoint toward the question of the ratification of the (Paris) agreements is therefore not to be expected."

Elaborating, German officials said Adenauer adheres to his often expressed view that the Western world must be economically and militarily strong before it can consider reaching an agreement with the Russians.

Must Achieve Equality

Of Molotov's statement that rejection of the Paris agreements would open the possibility of an agreement to reunify Germany, a high German official said:

"It is foolish to believe that Moscow regards the reunification of Germany and the question of free (German) elections as a question by itself. In reality, this question is closely interwoven with all other cold war issues. The West must first achieve equality in strength with the East before successful negotiations with Moscow are possible."

In Washington yesterday, Secretary of State Dulles and the visiting premier of France, Pierre Mendes-France, agreed informally to reject the new Soviet proposal, which Molotov made public through an interview in the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

The British position against any security talks with the Iron Curtain powers until the Paris agreements are confirmed was detailed in the House of Commons last week by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The target date for ratification in the last of the Parliaments involved is March 1.

The Russians proposed that their security conference take in 24 powers, including the United States, and that Red China send observers.

Methodist Bishops To Back Court's Segregation Move

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bishops of the Methodist Church today announced support of the Supreme Court's decision abolishing segregation in the public schools.

They said the Methodist Church will lead the fight to put the ruling into effect, "for one of the foundation stones of our faith is the belief that all men are brothers, equal in the sight of God."

The promise of support was contained in a message adopted by 50 bishops who attended a four-day meeting of the Council of Bishops in Chicago. The message was addressed to the nine million members of the church.

The message opposed universal military training, or "any attempt to fasten peacetime conscription on the American people." It commended President Eisenhower's efforts to secure international cooperation and understanding.

"The historic decision of the Supreme Court abolishing segregation in the public school system is in keeping with the attitude of the Methodist Church," the bishops said.

Volunteers Sort McCarthy Mailbag

New McCarthy Censure Move Gains Headway

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—A move to substitute for pending charges a new censure count accusing Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) of maligning the Watkins inquiry committee was reported gaining headway among senators today.

Such a proposal has been discussed as a possible bipartisan action by senators who have made no public commitment on the current charges that McCarthy treated an elections subcommittee with contempt and "repeatedly abused" Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee early this year.

It is figuring importantly in behind-the-scenes discussion while the Senate itself is in recess until Nov. 29. The recess was ordered Thursday after McCarthy entered Bethesda Naval Hospital for treatment of an injured elbow.

The hospital said today that McCarthy's condition continues satisfactory.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) has said he will propose a third censure count, based on McCarthy's accusing Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) of cowardly actions and saying Watkins' six-man committee had served as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party in recommending censure.

This Democrat said his surveys indicate the Zwicker count has lost support steadily since Sen. Case (R-S.D.), who drafted it as a member of the Watkins committee, announced he would not back that portion of the censure resolution.

The Democratic senator said he himself would not vote to censure McCarthy for his treatment of Zwicker because he believes any such action might indirectly affirm a right of the executive department to silence witnesses before congressional committees.

Champ Inmate Nabbed 48th Time Along Broadway

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Leon Stern, New York's champion workhouse inmate, was arrested today for the 48th time.

Stern, 61, and known to harassed midtown police as "Broadway Floogie," was picked up for lifting a cashmere overcoat from a shop, just two weeks after getting out of jail on a similar charge.

Police said his career of petty crime extends back to 1907 and that he has served more time in the workhouse than anyone else. Stern was held without bail for trial in Special Sessions Court.

Naguib Won't Face Egypt Trial

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 21 (AP)—Egypt assured anxious Sudanese tonight that their favorite son, ousted Egyptian President Gamal Nasser, will not be tried even though he has been accused of scheming with fanatics to overthrow the government.

Guidance Minister Maj. Salah Salem gave these assurances after meetings with a visiting delegation representing the ruling National Unionist party of the Sudan which had come to plead for Naguib's safety.

Naguib was deposed from his highbrow post in the presidency Nov. 14 and placed under house arrest by the government of his soldier comrade-in-arms, Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser. He was accused of acquiescing with plans of the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood, already implicated in the attempted assassination of Nasser, to unseat the present revolutionary regime.

The Sudanese view him as their favored son.

The bishops said they applaud the President's offer to share atomic material with other nations "for peaceful, humanitarian purposes."

Coffee Cost Rises 3 Cents Per Pound

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP)—General Foods Corp. announced today a three cents per pound rise in its price for wholesale coffee.

J. K. Evans, general manager of the firm's Maxwell House division, said that the price of coffee previously had dropped 20 cents per pound from the market peak this year, but that higher cost of green coffee was partly responsible for the present increase.

University Gets New Professor

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 21 (AP)—The University of Maryland has reached into the ranks of industry for a new professor, Dr. William A. Pennington.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, said Pennington had been named professor with metallurgical option. Dr. Pennington, national treasurer of the American Society of Metals, has been associated with Armcoc Steel Company, Carrier Corporation and a fellow in charge of research on foundry practice of the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh.

The bishops said the ultimate success of the Supreme Court's ruling—which established the principle that students of all races should attend the same public schools—"will be determined in the hearts of the people of the nation."

Uncle Breaks Down, Admits Slaying Girl

BULLETIN

ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP)—State police said the body of 11-year-old Jeannette Ernest was found tonight in a wooded area about four miles east of Lebanon, Mo. Capt. L. H. Howard, in charge of the Rolla district of the highway patrol said the girl's body was not buried and was fully clothed. There were no immediate details on the discovery of the body.

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP)—Sheriff Bill Decker of Dallas County, Tex., said tonight Thurman Priest has orally admitted killing his 11-year-old niece but changed his story over location of the body. Priest, who has been charged with kidnapping Jeannette Ernest of Fort Worth, Tex., suddenly told officers, today, "All it came to me to do is lead you to the body."

Decker said Priest first told officers that the body was at Miami, Okla., but while cruising around Seneca, Mo., changed his story and said it was between Rolla and Stanton, Mo.

The investigating party stopped several times en route from Baxter Springs, Kan., to Miami but did not find the body. Miami is in northeast Oklahoma about 40 miles southwest of here.

Decker said Priest gave officers no details of the killing.

Rolla is about 165 miles northeast of here while Stanton is about 35 miles northeast of Rolla on U. S. Highway 66.

Jeannette was kidnapped Tuesday and was last seen with her abductor at a tourist court in Irving, Tex. Priest, 48, a Grand Prairie, Tex., auditor, was arrested in Mount Vernon, Mo., and charged with kidnapping.

Priest's sudden statement today came as officers and Priest were backtracking the latter's reported route from Baxter Springs, Kan., to Mount Vernon Wednesday.

Baxter Springs is near the Missouri border in southeast Kansas, about 30 miles north of Miami.

Officers had feared the girl was dead. Blood stains and one of the girl's earrings were found in a cabin at Irving. Her stained cotton blouse was found hanging on a bridge railing near Lebanon, in south central Missouri.

Last night Priest told officers, "I don't deny anything but I don't remember anything." He added then: "If I killed her, I ought to be killed myself. But if I did I have no knowledge of it."

Priest was traced to Baxter Springs after a tourist court operator reported a man who registered as Priest and "wife" checked in at 4 a.m. and left before 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Officers said Priest checked in alone at a Stanton, Mo., tourist court at 3 p.m., staying only long enough to shave and clean up, then appeared at Mount Vernon.

Officers said witnesses identified Priest as the man who picked up Jeannette near a self-service laundry in Fort Worth while she was waiting for her mother. Priest had told his wife earlier that he planned to go to Ohio to look for work.

Jeannette's father and mother are divorced. The father, H. M. Ernest, also resides in Fort Worth.

Apprehended in Loch Haven, Pa., in connection with the passing of worthless checks, Kaul was returned to Cumberland last Monday for questioning about the theft of $30 and a ring from a local woman at the boarding house where he roomed. He waived his right to extradition.

Bowling Green Girl Spots 'Mr. Blooper' On Baltimore Street

A 13-year-old Bowling Green girl correctly identified "Mr. Blooper" Saturday, and by so doing became the winner of $25 in the contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in connection with the local observance of Safety Week.

Linda Cover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Cover, was downtown Saturday for the sole purpose of looking for the Jaycees' "mystery man." Accompanied by a friend, Kay Pollock, also of Bowling Green, she kept a sharp lookout for "jay walking" pedestrians on Baltimore Street.

"Mr. Blooper" was Robert W. "Bob" Young, local insurance and real estate dealer. He claimed he was getting discouraged before being spotted by Miss Cover, as he had been downtown every day last week displaying his anti-safety abilities and no one had tried to identify him as "Mr. Blooper."

Rev. Dr. Pankey, a graduate of the University of Richmond and of Crozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa., has served parishes in Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Richmond.

Know-how with pin curls makes a hair style easy to manage.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your hair will look as lovely as any model's, if you give it the same care the Powers Girls lavish on their photogenic locks.

Realize, as they do, the wisdom in conditioning treatments, brushing, and scrupulous cleanliness. Learn, as they have, how to set your hair in a professional manner. I'll tell you some of their styling secrets today.

The hairdo for you is one you can manage. This requires, first a cut intended for the style you prefer, based on the texture of your hair and the amount of natural wave or curl it possesses. It requires, second, know-how with pin curls.

For most attractive results, textured hair should be allowed to fall softly and naturally with a minimum of setting. Medium or coarse hair will hold a curl or wave longer. You can style it more elaborately, but it must still be carefully set.

Shampoo Often

No pin curl is perfect without shimmering clean hair. Shampoo as often as necessary for a bright and lustrous look. Set the hair damp, after brushing out the tangles and aligning a straight part. Use the end teeth of your comb for the blunt end of a bobby pin to plot your pin-curl pattern, allowing about one curl to the square inch. Comb each strand smooth, holding the comb as parallel to the hair as you can, to encourage curl. Wind the end around your left index finger (if you are right-handed), then slide the curl off and roll it toward your head. Pin the curl flat to your scalp in its own section, so it won't interfere with the next one to be set. Or, if you want height when your hair is combed out, make the pin curl stand up.

The looser and softer the curl you want, the more hair goes into each strand. For tighter curls, wind less hair under each pin or clip. Never pin your hair so tightly that it looks "set" for a day or two afterwards, or pull on a curl so hard that you cause it to "frizz."

Practical Hints

Place each curl exactly where you want it to be in your finished hairdo. A quarter of an inch won't make much difference, but more than that will leave a blank spot, or at least spoil the perfect picture you visualize.

Generally speaking, bobby pins give springy curls and deep waves; they are recommended for setting fine or sparse hair. If you wish a pompadour effect, use wire mesh coils to wind two far-front curls forward and the next two toward the back of the head, adding vertical rolls at the sides. Secure each curl by slipping a bobby pin or clip through the end of the roller. When you hair is dry, you can easily brush the pompadour into shape.

A 34-year old alleged bigamist was ordered held under $1,000 bond Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court for the January term of Circuit Court.

Charles William Kaul, formerly of Cumberland, is accused of marrying a Cresaptown area girl last August while still wed to a woman in Virginia, the first marriage dating back to 1951.

County Investigator Edwin R. Liliya said other charges may be filed against Kaul. The defendant was remanded to the county lockup pending additional investigation.

Apprehended in Loch Haven, Pa. in connection with the passing of worthless checks, Kaul was returned to Cumberland last Monday for questioning about the theft of $30 and a ring from a local woman at the boarding house where he roomed. He waived his right to extradition.

Nationalist Bombers Strike Communist Invasion Troops On Island In Tachen Area

TAIPEH, Formosa, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two waves of Nationalist bombers last night blasted a Chinese Communist invasion buildup on an island only 15 miles north of the strategic Tachen Islands, official reports said. Communist fighters roared out to try to turn back the raiders but the medium bombers pressed home the attack on Tienao Island and all planes returned, the reports added.

As Nationalist warplanes delivered their second blow of the day in the Tachen area, President Chiang Kai-shek warned that Red air raids on Formosa were inevitable.

Chiang in an Air Defense Day message declared the Communists would bomb Formosa "because this island is a base against the Red bandits and Russia and is an outpost of the free world."

The raid on Tienao—the first reported air attack on that island—resulted from intelligence reports that the Communists had moved in troop reinforcements and artillery.

The Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist offshore bases 200 miles north of Formosa, were blacked out during the night but Communist planes did not attack the island group.

Returning pilots were quoted as saying results were excellent.

Earlier in the day Nationalist planes bombed and strafed Red gun positions on Toumen Island, 14 miles northwest of the Tachens.

The vest pocket war was reported quiet elsewhere except for the usual artillery duels between the Reds on Amoy and the Nationalists on nearby Quemoy, across the strait from Formosa.

The Interior Ministry's Tato agency said six small Red submarines were sighted early this month off the coastal town of Siangshan, 80 miles north of the Tachens. It said the Russians had turned over the submarines and speculated they would be used in operations against the Nationalist navy in Tachen waters.

Sheppard Patient Takes Lie Test In Murder Trial

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Nov. 21 (AP)—Police said tonight that a lie detector test had completely cleared a tall, wavy-haired man of any connection with the murder of Marilyn Sheppard.

The test was administered, police pointed out, at the insistence of the Michigan man who took it.

A former patient at the Sheppard's osteopathic hospital in suburban Bay Village, Phillip A. Schilling was brought here yesterday from Detroit at the request of members of the Sheppard family.

The first degree murder trial of osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant, 31-year-old wife to death, was in weekend recess.

Schilling, 38, who once lived in Bay Village and later moved to Marine City, a suburb of Detroit, accompanied Cleveland detectives on a tour of the West Side to establish his whereabouts during the early morning hours last July 4 when Marilyn Sheppard was fatally beaten in her bed.

Police Capt. David E. Kerr said after interrogating Schilling and 12 other persons:

"We are satisfied from the witnesses we have talked to that he has no connection with the Sheppard case."

Brought back from the rest home where Schilling once stayed was a paint-smeared T-shirt and a 17-inch mill file. Police said neither showed any traces of blood.

The T-shirt Dr. Sheppard wore the night his wife was murdered, and the weapon that inflicted about 27 bone-deep blows to her head have never been recovered.

Dr. Sheppard has maintained a bushy-haired prowler bludgeoned his wife and injured him in a fight. Six feet, two inches tall and with black, wavy hair, Schilling was first mentioned to police by Dr. Stephen Sheppard, older brother of the accused osteopath, who earlier had said the information was "the most significant thing that has come to my attention since Marilyn's murder."

Tomorrow the murder trial goes into its sixth week.

Francis Dippel Files For Baltimore Mayor

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Claiming to be "armed with an extended list of the misconducts and errors of the present administration and fortified with a constructive program," State Sen. Francis X. Dippel filed Saturday for mayor of Baltimore.

Dippel, a 38-year-old veteran lawmaker who did not seek re-election Nov. 2 to the Senate, is a Democrat.

Two other Democrats already have filed—Kenneth E. Lee and Harry F. Kemper. Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, also a Democrat, has not said whether he will run again. But he is expected to file before the Dec. 30 deadline.

Dippel served in the House of Delegates from 1946 to 1950, when he was elected to the Senate.

Heavy Rain Hits Along East Coast As Mercury Rises

By The Associated Press
Rain swept north from the Gulf States along the East Coast into southern New England Sunday. New York City reported 1.36 inches of rain in 24 hours; Nantucket, Mass., .95 inch, and Caribou, Me., and Philadelphia, .87.

Showers were reported, too, through the Ohio Valley and into Missouri and Nebraska.

Temperatures generally were above the seasonal levels except near the Gulf of Mexico where sharp drops were recorded. Birmingham, Ala., listed a low of 31, rare for that area.

It was warmer, though, through the Central and Southwestern States.

Temperatures at noon ranged from 15 degrees at Alamosa, Colo., 57 at Miami and 36 at Caribou.

It took them 26 hours.

Because of the fog, they had planned to follow the Island Belle, the Smith Island mail boat piloted by Leland's father, Capt. Lora Whitecock. But the fog appeared to be lifting and the mail boat takes an hour and a half to make the journey, so they shovelled off 15 minutes ahead of the mail boat.

Capt. Whitecock launched an immediate search when he reached Smith Island and learned the boys were missing. Early today, the Coast Guard, Tidewater Fisheries boats and a number of watermen joined the search.

All were unconscious tonight.

Nationalist Bombers Strike Communist Invasion Troops On Island In Tachen Area

TAIPEH, Formosa, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two waves of Nationalist bombers last night blasted a Chinese Communist invasion buildup on an island only 15 miles north of the strategic Tachen Islands, official reports said. Communist fighters roared out to try to turn back the raiders but the medium bombers pressed home the attack on Tienao Island and all planes returned, the reports added.

As Nationalist warplanes delivered their second blow of the day in the Tachen area, President Chiang Kai-shek warned that Red air raids on Formosa were inevitable.

Chiang in an Air Defense Day message declared the Communists would bomb Formosa "because this island is a base against the Red bandits and Russia and is an outpost of the free world."

The raid on Tienao—the first reported air attack on that island—resulted from intelligence reports that the Communists had moved in troop reinforcements and artillery.

The Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist offshore bases 200 miles north of Formosa, were blacked out during the night but Communist planes did not attack the island group.

Returning pilots were quoted as saying results were excellent.

Earlier in the day Nationalist planes bombed and strafed Red gun positions on Toumen Island, 14 miles northwest of the Tachens.

The west pocket war was reported quiet elsewhere except for the usual artillery duels between the Reds on Amoy and the Nationalists on nearby Quemoy, across the strait from Formosa.

The Interior Ministry's Taitao agency said six small Red submarines were sighted early this month off the coastal town of Shangshan, 80 miles north of the Tachens. It said the Russians had turned over the submarines and speculated they would be used in operations against the Nationalist navy in Tachen waters.

Sheppard Patient Takes Lie Test In Murder Trial

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21 (AP)—Police said tonight that a lie detector test had completely cleared a tall, wavy-haired man of any connection with the murder of Marilyn Sheppard.

The test was administered, police pointed out, at the insistence of the Michigan man who took it.

A former patient at the Sheppard's osteopathic hospital in suburban Bay Village, Phillip A. Schilling was brought here yesterday from Detroit at the request of members of the Sheppard family.

The first degree murder trial of osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant, 31-year-old wife to death, was in weekend recess.

Schilling, 38, who once lived in Bay Village and later moved to Marine City, a suburb of Detroit, accompanied Cleveland detectives on a tour of the West Side to establish his whereabouts during the early morning hours last July 4 when Marilyn Sheppard was fatally beaten in her bed.

Police Capt. David E. Kerr said after interrogating Schilling and 12 other persons:

"We are satisfied from the witnesses we have talked to that he has no connection with the Sheppard case."

Brought back from the rest home where Schilling once stayed was a paint-smeared T-shirt and a 17-inch mill file. Police said neither showed any traces of blood.

The T-shirt Dr. Sheppard wore the night his wife was murdered, and the weapon that inflicted about 27 bone-deep blows to her head have never been recovered.

Dr. Sheppard has maintained a bushy-haired prowler bludgeoned his wife and injured him in a fight.

Six feet, two inches tall and with black, wavy hair, Schilling was first mentioned to police by Dr. Stephen Sheppard, older brother of the accused osteopath, who earlier had said the information was "the most significant thing that has come to my attention since Marilyn's murder."

Tomorrow the murder trial goes into its sixth week.

Francis Dippel Files For Baltimore Mayor

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Claiming to be "armed with an extended list of the misconducts and errors of the present administration and fortified with a constructive program," State Sen. Francis X. Dippel filed Saturday for mayor of Baltimore.

Dippel, a 38-year-old veteran lawmaker who did not seek re-election Nov. 2 to the Senate, is a Democrat.

Two other Democrats already have filed—Kenneth E. Lee and Harry F. Kemper. Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, also a Democrat, has not said whether he will run again. But he is expected to file before the Dec. 30 deadline.

Dippel served in the House of Delegates from 1946 to 1950, when he was elected to the Senate.

Heavy Rain Hits Along East Coast As Mercury Rises

By The Associated Press
Rain swept north from the Gulf States along the East Coast into southern New England Sunday. New York City reported 1.36 inches of rain in 24 hours; Nantucket, Mass., .95 inch, and Caribou, Me. and Philadelphia, .87.

Showers were reported, too, through the Ohio Valley and west into Missouri and Nebraska.

Temperatures generally were above the seasonal levels except near the Gulf of Mexico where sharp drops were recorded. Birmingham, Ala., listed a low of 31, rare for that area.

It was warmer, though, through the Central and Southwestern States.

Temperatures at noon ranged from 15 degrees at Alamosa, Colo., to 57 at Miami and 56 at Caribou.

Woman Gets Pardon

ROME, Italy, Nov. 21 (AP)—Part of the tile roof of Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) jail collapsed tonight in a fire which spread through upper stories of the prison's administrative wing.

The flames were extinguished before they reached the wings housing prisoners, most of whom were unaware of the fire.

Lost Boy Scouts Discovered Safe

CRISFIELD, Md., Nov. 21 (AP)—Two God-fearing Boy Scouts from a God-fearing community, who got lost in Chesapeake Bay Saturday when fog enshrouded their 15-foot boat, were found today chilled to the bone but unharmed.

A Coast Guard plane spotted their boat in a marsh at Sedgely Point on Holland's Island just north of where the Maryland-Virginia line cuts across the Bay. A search boat picked them up a short time later.

Leland Whitelock and Russell Dize, both 13, left Crisfield about 1 p.m. Saturday in Whitelock's 15-foot outboard motorboat. They expected to make it home to Smith Island, 12 miles offshore, in about 20 minutes.

It took them 26 hours.

Because of the fog, they had planned to follow the Island Belle, the Smith Island mail boat piloted by Leland's father, Capt. Lora Whitelock. But the fog appeared to be lifting and the mail boat takes an hour and a half to make the journey, so they shovved off 15 minutes ahead of the mail boat.

Capt. Whitelock launched an immediate search when he reached Smith Island and learned the boys were missing. Early today, the Coast Guard, Tidewater Fisheries boats and a number of watermen joined the search.

Train-Auto Crash Kills 2

MARYSVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21 (AP)—An automobile-train collision at Augusta, Ky., today claimed the life of 13-year-old Mary JoAnn Glaze, of Ripley, Ohio, bringing the crash death toll to two.

The Cincinnati-bound Chesapeake & Ohio freight train "hit the car right in the center" last night, said Deputy Sheriff Robert Kelsch.

Harold Hampton, 16, of near Dover, Mason County, Ky., was killed instantly.

Five others, critically injured, were taken 24 miles to the nearest hospital at Maysville.

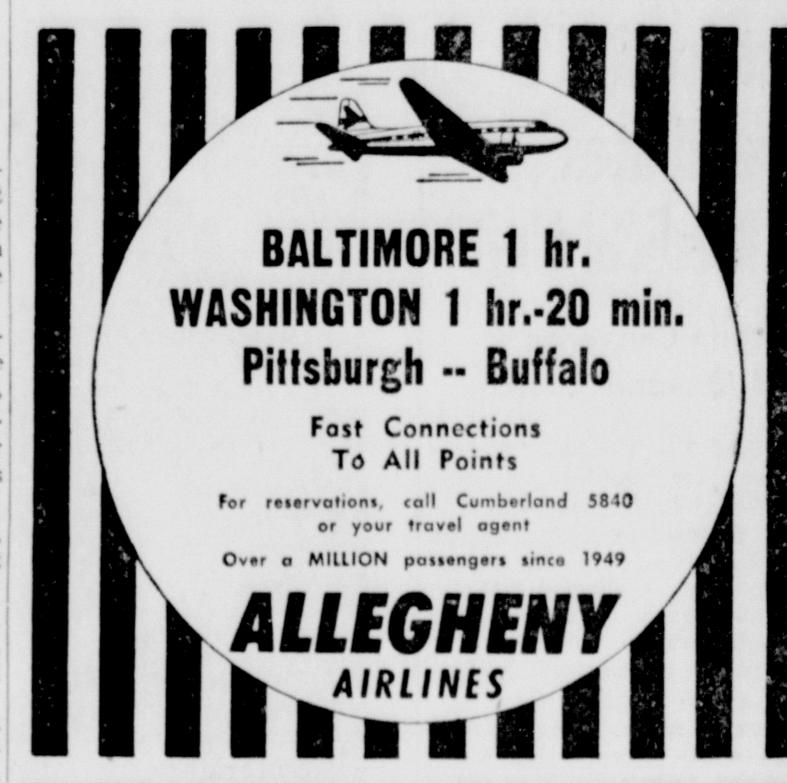

Miss Glaze died this afternoon. Her girl friend, Shirley Sullivan, 15, of Ripley, still was in critical condition.

Also injured were David Laycock, 28, Elmer Kinder, 23, owner and driver of the car, and his brother, Corlis Kinder, 19, all of the Dover area.

All were unconscious tonight.

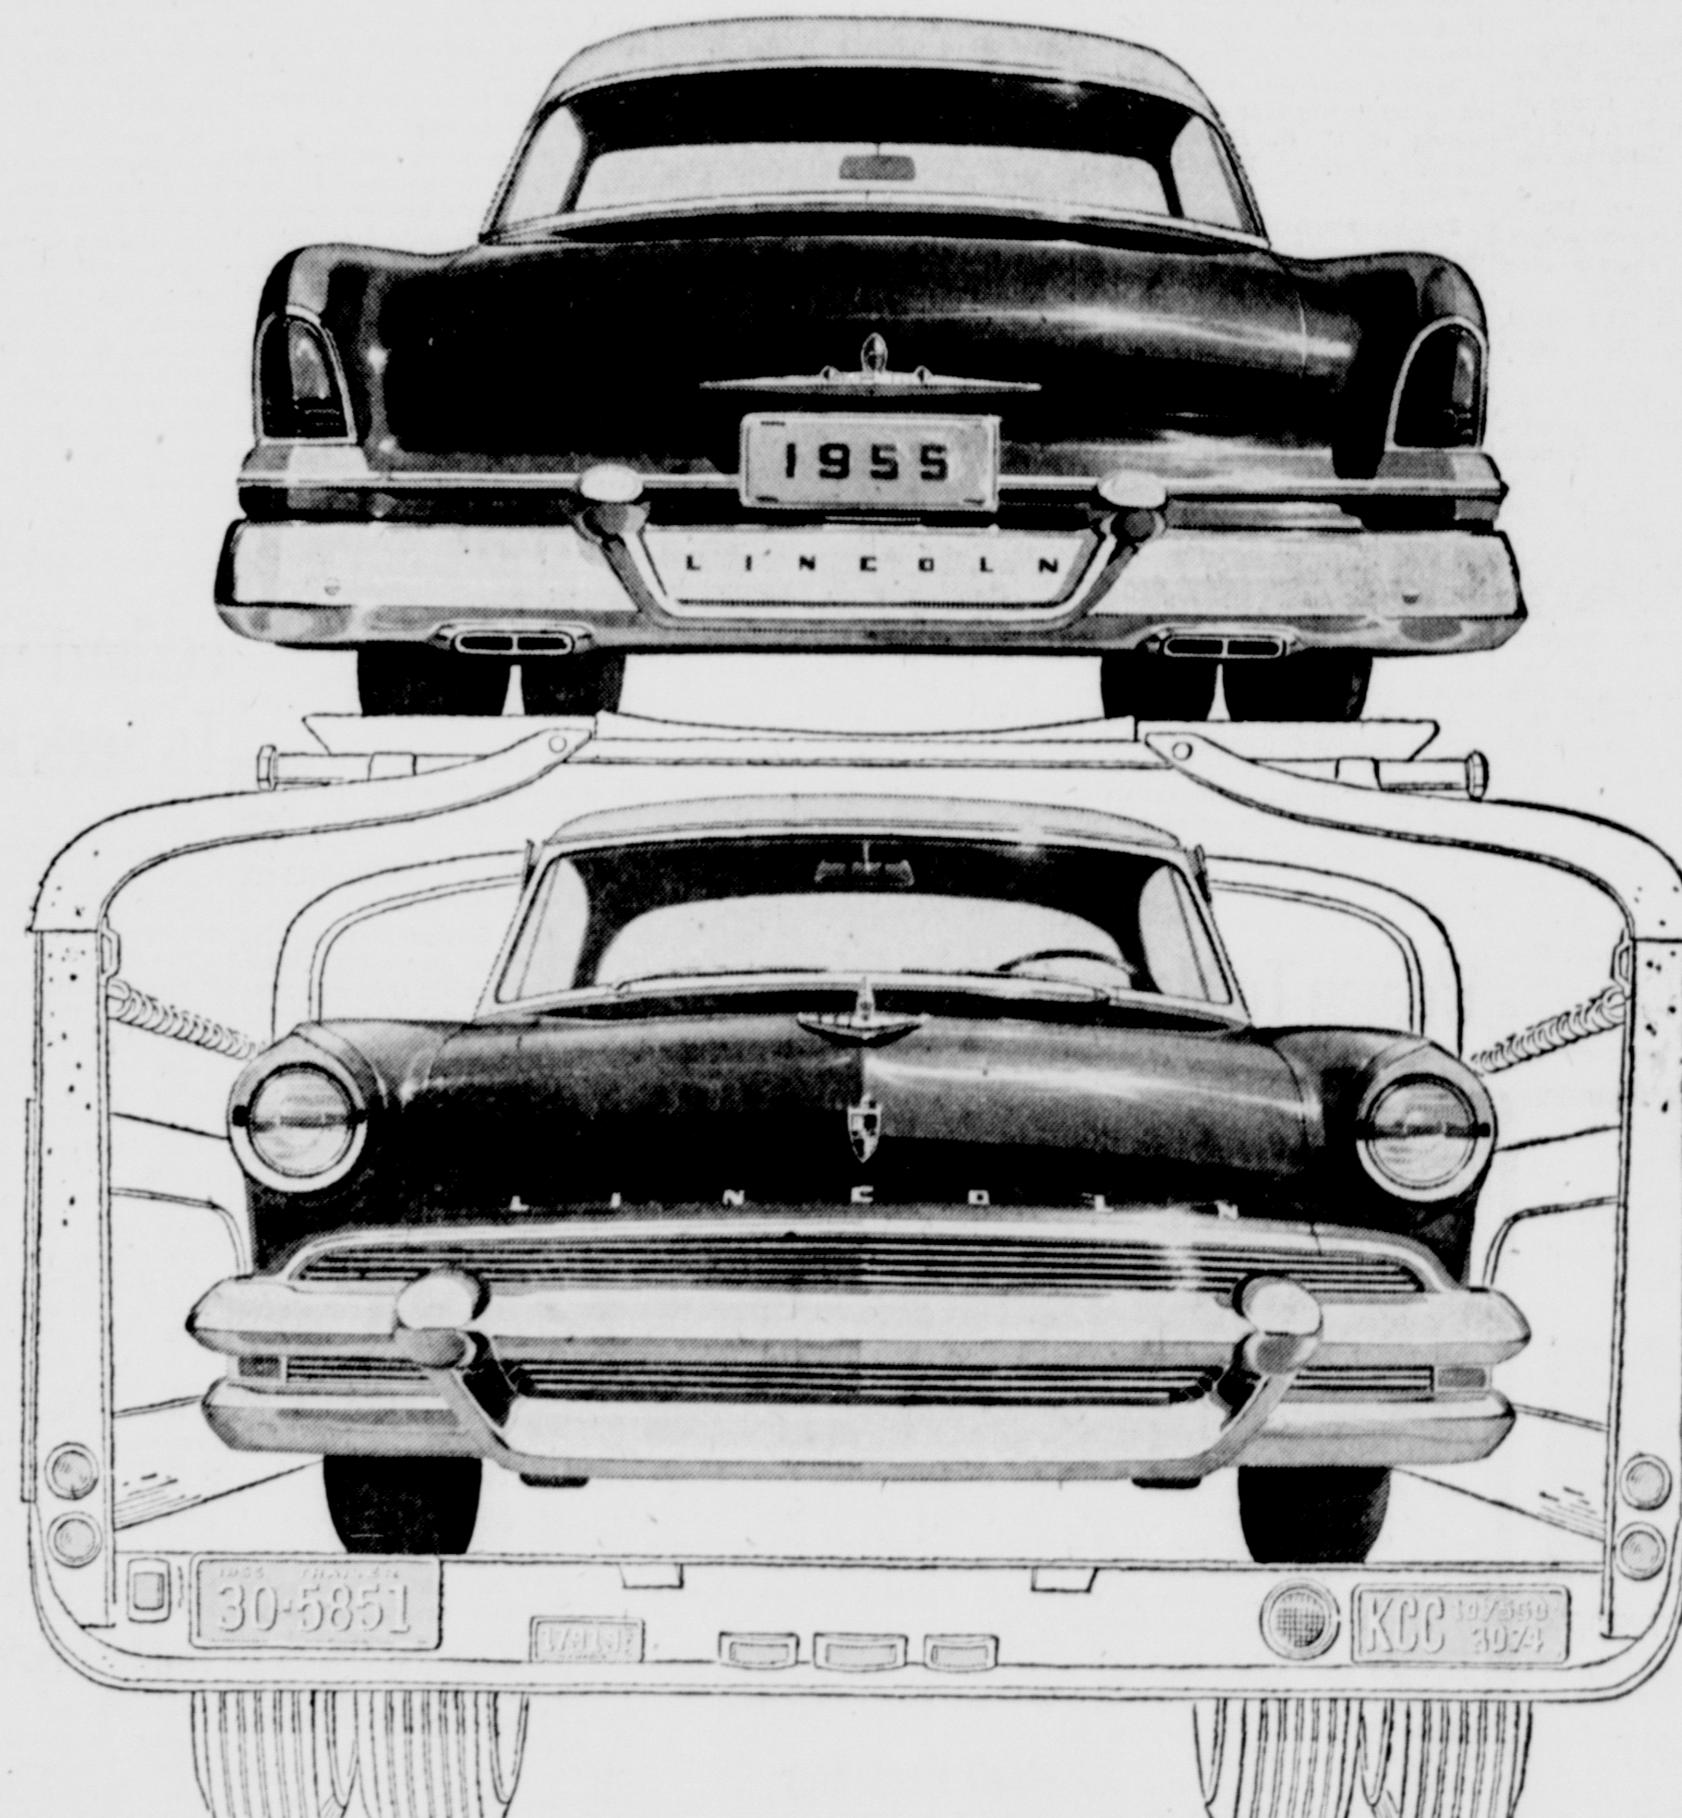

The train struck the automobile at 3rd and Main Sts. in the heart of this Ohio River town of 1,800 persons. The car was hurled into a flasher signal, then back onto the tracks where it was dragged 35 feet.

Delegates to the party's annual conference approved by a narrow margin a resolution declaring "the continued presence of U.S. servicemen in this country is an affront to those members of the Commonwealth continuously decried by America in their attempt to secure a world settlement."

Now—come in and see for yourself. The new Lincoln styling—the new colors and fabrics—merit a long look.

And then you must—as we have—drive a new 1955 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri. Because beneath this beauty is new performance words cannot describe.

Another Fox Killed In W.Va.

The head of a fox which was killed after invading the yard of a Knobley Mountain Road resident in neighboring Mineral County, W. Va., has been sent to the State Health Department laboratory in Charleston to determine if it was rabid.

The fox was the second such animal killed last week in that area, one biting three-year-old Patricia Kessner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kessner, while she was playing in her front yard last Monday.

Persons, not in the association, who are interested in Girl Scout work, are privileged to attend.

Imagination Limits Dreams Of Plastics

The plastics revolution is already well under way. It has opened the door to an infinite supply of new materials, with new properties. The Stone Age and the Bronze Age and the Iron Age loom large in history. Each produced a revolution in man's way of life as he found undreamed-of uses for the new material.

The age of plastics is bringing in an incredible variety of possibilities because of the wide range of new materials already available and the prospect of an endless supply of others.

In the home, in buildings, in stores, in cars and planes, in clothing, the use of plastics is burgeoning. But only the barest beginning has been made in finding applications for the materials now generally available. Here is a challenge to the modern imagination in every industrial field.

So architects have been holding a Plastics in Building Conference in Washington, at which the shape of the home of the future was projected. The use of plastics already makes possible a home with no dark corners, said one architect. Moreover, it will reduce home maintenance to a minimum.

Another spoke of the possibilities for home beauty—panels of translucent milky white, louvers of brilliant green, interior partitions of yellow strips in a basket weave. Home builders can start dreaming in technical now.

Others looked forward to strange designs. One "home of the future," shown in a small model, is a hexagonal affair whose sides rise from the ground like petals when a key is turned in the lock, leaving the home open to the out-of-doors. Fortunately some inside enclosures have been provided to protect privacy.

Another imaginative prospect is life on the ocean wave, with super-strength plastic films afloat on a tropic belt of sea 500 miles across, non-transparent "bubble" plastic homes here and there, floating plastic stills to make fresh water, and agricultural gardens everywhere.

"The future of plastics," commented one delegate, "is limited only by our imaginations, and by public acceptance of new concepts in living." The imagination is active, as the conference showed, and public acceptance is less inflexible than was formerly the case.

More On Conformity

The great profession of public relations is engaged in bringing pressures upon all of us to conform to notions which each side says represent majority opinion. If every time the phrase, "average American," is used one knew exactly what was meant, it would surely produce the evidence that there is no such creature, that most people think for themselves, more or less, and come to the very practical conclusion that we can only do the best we can in a very troubled and confused world. Certainly the recent election does not provide any guide to what the "average American" thinks about anything.

Alan Valentine, who used to be president of the University of Rochester and has held important positions in the government, recently wrote:

... Good citizens are recognizing that deference to popular opinion is their highest civic virtue, that he who questions the wisdom of the majority is unworthy of their tolerance, that private doubts cannot be harbored in democratic society. But there still remain, alas, intransigent reactionaries devoted to an outworn liberal tradition; there are still some self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, and our universities still give asylum to perverse professors who are confirmed addicts of independent thought. Were it not for them, the nation might already have attained full cerebral standardization."

This I took to be satire because it is in an article entitled "A Modest Proposal for the Care and Use of Subversives," which is a reminder of Dean Swift's suggestion about eating babies to avoid famine in Ireland. Satirical as these sentences may be, the idea does prevail among too many of our citizens that because a government official says something, it is ipso facto true and should be accepted.

The citizen's problem, however, is not so much to accept judgments as it is to get at facts; what he is being fed, even in the news, is propaganda from a thousand sources. The self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine need not all be so-called liberals; they may be—and I think most of them are—conservatives who form a minority in a world that is moving toward socialism.

After the United States went to war, we were all told that we must love our ally, Russia. A propaganda that reached down to the elementary grades in the schools told of the wonders of Soviet Russia. Anyone who questioned the wisdom of this propaganda was called a Fascist, pro-Nazi, pro-Japanese, a Hitler-fighter, an anti-Semitic.

Then when the cold war started, we were all supposed to change our minds like the Rockettes change their steps. Suddenly, we were told how wicked the Russians really are. Now that "co-existence" is being thought of as a policy, we are supposed to think that when Stalin died, and Malenkov took his place, something suddenly happened to the Russian character and mentality which might make everything different. Presumably, when the Russians take their next step in the development of the Soviet Universal State, we shall be asked to change our minds again.

It is not so long ago that this same kind of government propaganda was devoted to causing us to believe that Chinese Communists are not Communists at all but "agrarian reformers." I shall never forget listening to a businessman, who fancies himself as a great authority on foreign relations, telling me that he had it from substantial people that these Chinese Communists were not associated with the Russians at all; that they were only interested in land reform. When I told him about my personal experiences with these same Chinese Communists, from 1921 to 1931, he said, "Well, I have it from very substantial people that all they want is land reform." Then came the Korean War.

There is no greater pressure for conformity from the most ardent conservatives than from the government itself and to one who respects the memory of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, all intellectual goose-stepping is a mark of moral degeneration. When a congressional committee investigates subversion and espionage, it is not pressing for conformity; it is investigating subversion and espionage, in which anyone may engage if he is willing to risk the consequences of violations of the law. There have always been men and women who forthrightly and courageously were willing to take that risk for what they believed to be true without hiding behind the Fifth Amendment or any other device.

Senator Knowland Asks Some Inconvenient Questions

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON—Republican Majority Leader William Knowland's now-famous speech warning against the dangers of an "atomic stalemate" has been much criticized for war-mongering, doom-mongering, and bad logic. Yet it might be a good idea for the senator's critics to make a serious attempt to answer certain inconvenient questions which Sen. Knowland asks when he means, of course, a Sovietized Finland.

Suppose, he says, that the time has come when the Soviets have the means utterly to destroy this country. Suppose they mobilized the Red Army on the Finnish frontier, and demand a "friendly" Finnish government—which would mean a Sovietized Finland.

Then, Sen. Knowland asks, won't a great many people, here as well as abroad, be saying that after all, we have no treaty obligations to Finland, and anyway why risk destruction for a lot of Finns? And won't this sort of reaction tend to be repeated, in situation after situation, so that in the end the United States will be isolated and paralyzed?

Genuinely Disturbed

If there is a convincing negative answer to these two questions, then Sen. Knowland's gloomy thesis—that an atomic stalemate will permit the Soviets to nibble the rest of the world to death—falls to the ground. But in all the criticism of Sen. Knowland's position, no really convincing answers to the questions he has posed have been forthcoming. And it is at least worth noting that the senator's speech was no mere sudden gesture. He thought about it long and hard before he made it.

He first thought of making such a speech during the recent campaign. Knowland was genuinely disturbed by the "peace issue" as it was developed during the campaign. The campaign line began to sound to his ears suspiciously like "peace at any price." He made a campaign speech, warning against this kind of peace, but one paid much attention.

After the election he decided

As an old Kentucky kernel equipped with letters of remark and reprisal we are glad Kernel Barker is back on the franked laundry route.

Dear Alben was stacked to the accolade of partisan corroboration by his fellow Kentuckians. The John Alden of the four Roosevelt administrations finally flipped a switch for himself.

The Barker has played second fiddle so long he puts resin on yesterday's toast.

It was his racket during the presidential swings to make the voters think the side-show was the main top. And he did it better than heat curling an ostrich feather.

The Barker is a politician pure and simple without being exactly either. When he hears the clarion call of the party he is as ready to go as a bobsled on 40-Mile Hill.

It was the Barker's boasting that put Franklin Delano Roosevelt over in 1940 and 1944 and we don't mean your old Aunt Minnie. He found out later that the caliper is at the end of the parade.

The Barker was promised the Democratic nomination in 1948 but the tide in the affairs of men gummed the cards. Truman was obliged into the driver's seat and hung on in 1948 for a refill.

The Barker's political career in Kentucky was fortunate in some details. At no time did he ever run against a football star who also played the ukulele.

This term in the Senate will be mostly conniving in classical who dunnit format. The Democratic majority will make the Republicans go underground in the Senate Cloakroom.

Dear Alben has made the transition from a VIP to a Veep and back again. He will not carve the political turkey Thursday but he will have his feet under the table.

That Slight, Stubborn "Cold" May Be Mononucleosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infectious mononucleosis which mimics a respiratory infection, usually is suspected whenever a slight cold refuses to go away. Mononucleosis is more annoying than serious and the majority of victims recover completely. After the diagnosis is made, patient and family are somewhat relieved when they learn the true nature of the condition.

The disturbance is difficult to describe except to say that it resembles flu or a mild sore throat. The cause is unknown and no one has ever been able to prove that the culprit is an ordinary germ, virus, spirochete, or parasite. Less than a handful of persons have died from the disease and as a result, we have little information on what actually takes place within the body.

The malady favors young adults but age is no barrier. It has been diagnosed in infants of 7 months and in men and women of 70. Approximately seven days elapse between exposure and the initial manifestations. In the beginning, symptoms of a respiratory infection appear, consisting of headache, sorethroat, sweats, chilly sensations, or fatigue.

The temperature may soar to 104 degrees but lower readings are more common. Neck glands swell and grow and then the glands in the armpits and groins follow suit.

Fever remains for about five days, and glandular swelling rarely subsides in less than three weeks.

Simple blood tests are needed to diagnose the disease. These tests generally disclose an increased number of special lymphocytes, which is natural because the lymphatic tissue is involved.

But the disease is not always confined to the throat and the lymph nodes. The liver is involved in virtually all sufferers and in small percentage, the skin and mucous membranes turn yellow. The spleen is enlarged in more than 65 per cent of all cases. The heart, lungs, and nervous system also may be affected.

Infectious mononucleosis seldom is serious enough to require specific treatment. It is advisable to remain in bed while the temperature is up and the same can be said if liver and spleen enlargement or other complications exist. Good old aspirin relieves distress.

Stronger measures may be needed when the condition is severe.

Pooled serum or blood plasma are recommended occasionally in the hope that the blood will receive enough protective antibodies to prevent disease.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A doubtless Protestant, aged 9, arrived home with a black eye. It developed that he had offended his friend, Tim Donovan, by exclaiming, "Down with the Pope!" "But, my dear boy," cried his distressed mother, "surely you must have known that the Donovans are Catholic!"

"I knew the Donovans ace," explained the injured lad, "but how could I tell the Pope was too?"

Herbert Mayes, editor of Good Housekeeping magazine, describes a publisher as "a man who goes around with a worried look on his assistants' faces."

So many analysts now have offices on Park Avenue in New

Senator Cordon Complains About Lack Of Funds Among Oregon Republicans

By Drew Pearson

As Dulles droned on and on, leaders of both parties began to fidget in their chairs. Ike recognized this and looked at his secretary several times as if to inquire how long he planned to continue.

Suddenly the alarm on Ike's wrist watch went off with a loud buzz. Whether the President had set the alarm before the meeting or changed it during the course of Dulles' statement to shut off, the secretary is something only Ike knows.

In any case, there was a howl of laughter, with Ike adding a comic touch by grabbing at the watch to silence the alarm.

"Is that a signal for me to stop?" inquired Dulles sheepishly.

"Maybe it is," agreed the President. "I didn't realize we were running so long."

The President was most frank in stating that he needed the strongest possible "help and cooperation" from the Democrats on foreign policy and national defense. Ike added that he realized this was a two-way proposition and he himself would demonstrate his sincerity and confidence in Democratic chiefs by consulting with them frequently on all matters of vital interest to the nation.

Eisenhower didn't implement the pledge by specifying how often—or on what specific bills—he would consult with the Democrats. The latter also couched their assurances of cooperation on national security issues in non-specific, but positive terms.

"Mr. President," declared Speaker-to-be Rayburn, "I can assure you that as far as my party in the House is concerned, we will cooperate with you to the fullest extent on legislation to insure a strong foreign policy, a strong national defense and all other legislation affecting the safety of the nation.

We feel that this is an obligation incumbent upon all Americans, regardless of party label."

BABSON PARK, Mass.—There are several reasons for the present epidemic of mergers. In some cases, taxes are the chief consideration; in other cases they are to reduce costs; and often the cause is to secure additional financing.

Importance Of Advertising

But one very potent cause is to be able to afford more advertising, which—as the life of trade—is the life of trade. In the case of a two-page color spread in Life Magazine the price would be approximately $50,000 for one week! This is a drop in the bucket to RCA, but it is a cost which small companies cannot meet.

In any event, he is sure that the most public possible re-examination of our strategic position, with all the key civilian and military leaders parading before Congress, is now essential. For Knowland is old-fashioned enough to believe that when the American people know the essential facts of their situation, they will react wisely to them.

Knowland may be wrong. There may be, for example, some undisclosed reason why our position is really getting better and better, as claimed, while the Soviet Union is obtaining the means to destroy us. But no one who has talked to him can doubt that the big, lumbering Republican leader is absolutely sincere in the course he has chosen.

"I have three grandchildren," he says. "God knows I don't want them in a war. But if the Soviets get a decisive atomic stockpile, and then we have to choose between surrender and a hopeless war, I don't want my grandchildren asking me why I didn't try to do something about it, when I was in the U. S. Senate and the United States still had a big lead in atomic weapons."

In fact, by one law of advertising, each product would get only 1/20th of the result instead of 1/20th. This can be remedied only by a reduction in the number of items, or by a consolidation with other candy manufacturers.

Of course, Life Savers would not consider such a consolidation. A merger would have to be with a candy company having similar competitive difficulties but duplicate

What About Stock Prices?

I am continually asked why the stocks of some companies—like General Electric, for instance—sell so much higher than stocks of some smaller electric companies which are not well known but may perhaps make a better product. I do not know all the answers to this question, but this I do know: The price of the stock of almost all companies (Hershey is an exception) parallels closely the amount spent upon advertising.

Not only do large advertising appropriations create more business and more profits, but investors like to buy the stocks of companies which they see advertising each week. This not only applies to the prosperity of individual companies; but also to the prosperity of the nation as a whole. When national advertising falls off, business falls off and unemployment increases. I forecast that the day may come when the government will subsidize advertising during a business depression.

What About Merchandising?

Not only will we see many more mergers amongst manufacturing concerns, but the epidemic will spread to retail stores. Drive down the business street of any city—and with a critical eye—notice the vast number of small retailers. Eighty per cent are barely making a living. When depression comes, the mortality amongst retailers could be great.

Therefore, I urge retailers to consider mergers. This especially applies to shops which carry the same items and are near one another. Retailers who have no free parking space nearby will be the first to

Imagination Limits Dreams Of Plastics

The plastics revolution is already well under way. It has opened the door to an infinite supply of new materials, with new properties. The Stone Age and the Bronze Age and the Iron Age loom large in history. Each produced a revolution in man's way of life as he found undreamed-of uses for the new material.

The age of plastics is bringing in an incredible variety of possibilities because of the wide range of new materials already available and the prospect of an endless supply of others.

In the home, in buildings, in stores, in cars and planes, in clothing, the use of plastics is burgeoning. But only the barest beginning has been made in finding applications for the materials now generally available. Here is a challenge to the modern imagination in every industrial field.

So architects have been holding a Plastics in Building Conference in Washington, at which the shape of the home of the future was projected. The use of plastics already makes possible a home with no dark corners, said one architect. Moreover, it will reduce home maintenance to a minimum.

Another spoke of the possibilities for home beauty—panels of translucent milky white, louvers of brilliant green, interior partitions of yellow strips in a basket weave. Home builders can start dreaming in technicolor now.

Others looked forward to strange designs. One "home of the future," shown in a small model, is a hexagonal affair whose sides rise from the ground like petals when a key is turned in the lock, leaving the home open to the out-of-doors. Fortunately some inside enclosures have been provided to protect privacy.

Another imaginative prospect is life on the ocean wave, with super-strength plastic films afloat on a tropic belt of sea 500 miles across, non-transparent "bubble" plastic homes here and there, floating plastic stilts to make fresh water, and agricultural gardens everywhere.

"The future of plastics," commented one delegate, "is limited only by our imaginations, and by public acceptance of new concepts in living." The imagination is active, as the conference showed, and public acceptance is less inflexible than was formerly the case.

More On Conformity

The great profession of public relations is engaged in bringing pressures upon all of us to conform to notions which each side says represent majority opinion. If every time the phrase, "average American," is used one knew exactly what was meant, it would surely produce the evidence that there is no such creature, that most people think for themselves, more or less, and come to the very practical conclusion that we can only do the best we can in a very troubled and confused world. Certainly the recent election does not provide any guide to what the "average American" thinks about anything.

Alan Valentine, who used to be president of the University of Rochester and has held important positions in the government, recently wrote:

"... Good citizens are recognizing that deference to popular opinion is their highest civic virtue, that he who questions the wisdom of the majority is unworthy of their tolerance, that private doubts cannot be harbored in democratic society. But there still remain, alas, intransigent reactionaries devoted to an outworn liberal tradition; there are still some self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, and our universities still give asylum to perverse professors who are confirmed addicts of independent thought. Were it not for them, the nation might already have attained full cerebral standardization."

This I took to be satire because it is in an article entitled "A Modest Proposal for the Care and Use of Subversives," which is a reminder of Dean Swift's suggestion about eating babies to avoid famine in Ireland. Satirical as these sentences may be, the idea does prevail among too many of our citizens that because a government official says something, it is ipso facto true and should be accepted.

The citizen's problem, however, is not so much to accept judgments as it is to get at facts; what he is being fed, even in the news, is propaganda from a thousand sources. The "self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine" need not all be so-called liberals; they may be—and I think most of them are—conservatives who form a minority in a world that is moving toward socialism.

After the United States went to war, we were all told that we must love our ally, Russia. A propaganda that reached down to the elementary grades in the schools told of the wonders of Soviet Russia. Anyone who questioned the wisdom of this propaganda was called a Fascist, pro-Nazi, pro-Japanese, a Hitler-defender, an anti-Semitic.

Then when the cold war started, we were all supposed to change our minds like the Rockettes change their steps. Suddenly, we were told how wicked the Russians really are. Now that "co-existence" is being thought of as a policy, we are supposed to think that when Stalin died, and Malenkov took his place, something suddenly happened to the Russian character and mentality which might make everything different. Presumably, when the Russians take their next step in the development of the Soviet Universal State, we shall be asked to change our minds again.

It is not so long ago that this same kind of government propaganda was devoted to causing us to believe that Chinese Communists are not Communists at all but "agrarian reformers." I shall never forget listening to a businessman, who fancies himself as a great authority on foreign relations, telling me that he had it from substantial people that these Chinese Communists were not associated with the Russians at all; that they were only interested in land reform.

When I told him about my personal experiences with these same Chinese Communists, from 1921 to 1931, he said, "Well, I have it from very substantial people that all they want is land reform." Then came the Korean War.

There is no greater pressure for conformity from the most ardent conservatives than from the government itself and to one who respects the memory of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, all intellectual goose-stepping is a mark of moral degeneration. When a congressional committee investigates subversion and espionage, it is not pressing for conformity; it is investigating subversion and espionage, in which anyone may engage if he is willing to risk the consequences of violations of the law. There have always been men and women who forthrightly and courageously were willing to take that risk for what they believed to be true without hiding behind the Fifth Amendment or any other device.

Senator Knowland Asks Some Inconvenient Questions

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON Republican Majority Leader William Knowland's now-famous speech warning against the dangers of an "atomic stalemate" has been much criticized for war-mongering, doom-mongering, and bad logic. Yet it might be a good idea for the senator's critics to make a serious attempt to answer certain inconvenient questions which Sen. Knowland asks, when he means, of course, a Sovietized Finland.

Suppose, he says, that the time has come when the Soviets have the means utterly to destroy this country. Suppose they mobilized the Red Army on the Finnish frontier, and demand a "friendly" Finnish government—which would mean a Sovietized Finland.

Then, Sen. Knowland asks, won't a great many people, here as well as abroad, be saying that after all, we have no treaty obligations to Finland, and anyway why risk destruction for a lot of Finns? And won't this sort of question tend to be repeated, in situation after situation, so that in the end the United States will be isolated and paralyzed?

Wants Another Debate

Second, Knowland wants also to wave a warning flag before the Communist bloc. He wants to serve notice on the Communist rulers definitely that he ought to speak his mind, however inconvenient this might be to the administration. He carefully considered the time and place. He decided that the speech had to be made before last Wednesday's meeting of congressional leaders at the White House. Otherwise, it would be interpreted abroad as an official trial balloon, and this he wanted to avoid.

He decided also that it ought to be delivered on the Senate floor, rather than in some other public forum, in order to give it all possible weight. But in order to avoid any impression of a congressional concert to seize control of foreign policy, he was careful to consult with no other senator before making his speech.

Dear Alben was staked to the accolade of partisan corroboration by his fellow Kentuckians. The John Alden of the four Roosevelt administrations finally flipped a skull for himself.

The Barker has played second fiddle so long he puts resin on yesterday's toast.

It was his racket during the presidential swings to make the voters think the side-show was the main top. And he did it better than heat curling an ostrich feather.

The Barker is a politician pure and simple without being exactly either. When he hears the clarion call of the party he is as ready to go as a booby on 40-Mile Hill.

It was the Barker's boasting that put Franklin Delano Roosevelt

(Distributed by INS)

over in 1940 and 1944 and we don't mean your old Aunt Minnie. He found out later that the capo was at the end of the parade.

The Barker was promised the Democratic nomination in 1948 but the tide in the affairs of men ginned the cards. Truman was booted into the driver's seat and hung on in 1948 for a refill.

The Barker has played second fiddle so long he puts resin on yesterday's toast.

This term in the Senate will be mostly conning in classical who dunnot format. The Democratic majority will make the Republicans go underground in the Senate Cloakroom.

Dear Alben has made the transition from a VIP to a Veep and back again. He will not carve the political turkey Thursday but he will have his feet under the table.

That Slight, Stubborn "Cold" May Be Mononucleosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Infectious mononucleosis which mimics a respiratory infection, usually is suspected whenever a slight cold refuses to go away. Mononucleosis is more annoying than serious and the majority of victims recover completely. After the diagnosis is made, patient and family are somewhat relieved when they learn the true nature of the condition.

The disturbance is difficult to describe except to say that it resembles flu or a mild sore throat. The cause is unknown and no one has ever been able to prove that the culprit is an ordinary germ, virus, sprochete, or parasite. Less than a handful of persons have died from the disease and as a result, we have little information on what actually takes place with in the condition.

The malady favors young adults but age is no barrier. It has been diagnosed in infants of 7 months and in men and women of 70. Approximately seven days elapse between exposure and the initial manifestations. In the beginning, symptoms of a respiratory infection appear, consisting of headache, sorethroat, sweats, chilly sensations, or fatigue.

The temperature may soar to 104 degrees but lower readings are more common. Neck glands swell and grow and then the glands in the armpits and groins follow suit.

Fever remains for about five days, and glandular swelling rarely subsides in less than three weeks.

Simple blood tests are needed to diagnose the disease. These tests generally disclose an increased number of special lymphocytes, which is natural because the lymphatic tissue is involved.

But the disease is not always confined to the throat and the lymph nodes. The liver is involved in virtually all sufferers and in small percentage, the skin and mucous membranes turn yellow.

The spleen is enlarged in more than 65 per cent of all cases. The heart, lungs, and nervous system also may be affected.

Infectious mononucleosis seldom is serious enough to require specific treatment. It is advisable to remain in bed while the temperature is up and the same can be said if liver and spleen enlargement or other complications exist. Good old aspirin relieves distress.

Stronger measures may be needed when the condition is severe.

Yankee, like curiosity, killed a cat. If this woman feels so strongly about removing her dentures, I doubt if the surgeon will insist, provided a local anesthetic is used. If the teeth should fall out during the operation, however, the mishap might create a serious problem.

Stronger measures may be needed when the condition is severe.

The Life Of Trade

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — There are several reasons for the present epidemic of mergers. In some cases, taxes are the chief consideration; in other cases they are to reduce costs; and often the cause is to secure additional financing.

Importance Of Advertising

But one very potent cause is to be able to afford more advertising, which—in this very competitive era—is the life of trade. To understand what I mean, let me remind readers that a full-page advertisement of television sets in this or any other newspaper would be the same price to the great Radio Corporation of America as to some new small company which might be manufacturing a better TV set. In the case of a two-page color spread in Life Magazine the price would be approximately $50,000 for one week! This is a drop in the bucket to RCA, but it is a cost which small companies cannot meet.

This is a problem not only to the small company, but also to a medium-sized company with several products to advertise. Successful advertising depends upon continuous advertising. With one product this is far more practical, more efficient, and much less expensive. Let me illustrate by referring to two good but competitive candy products.

Life Savers Vs. Necco

The Life Savers Corporation has practically only one product, with which every reader is acquainted and for which the company appropriates annually about $1,000,000 for advertising. The New England Confectionery Company (trade name Necco) has 20 different products. Therefore, I urge retailers to consider mergers. This especially applies to shops which carry the same items and are near one another. Retailers who have no free parking space nearby will be the first to merge. Bankers reading this column could be very helpful in bringing these needed mergers about. One closing thought: Read your Bible—Proverbs, Chapter 16, Verse 18. This gives the cause of most business failures.

What About Merchandising?

Not only will we see many more mergers amongst manufacturing concerns, but the epidemic will spread to retail stores. Drive down the business street of any city—and with a critical eye—notice the vast number of small retailers. Eighty per cent are barely making a living. Accept Invitation
After 21-7 Win At Michigan's Expense

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP) — Ohio State's undefeated football team was named today by the Big Ten athletic directors to meet Southern California in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

The announcement came from the office of Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten athletic commissioner, after a telegraphic poll of Big Ten athletic directors.

Ohio State, which closed its season yesterday with a 21-7 victory over Michigan, has accepted the invitation, the announcement said.

It'll be Ohio State's third trip to the Rose Bowl and second since the Pacific Coast and Big Ten began the present series in 1947.

Ohio State was beaten by California 20-8 in 1921 but the Buckeyes avenged that defeat with a 17-14 triumph in 1950.

Ohio State finished the season with a 9-0 record, capped by Saturday's stirring 21-7 triumph over Michigan. The Buckeyes won seven conference games also defeating Indiana, 20-8; Illinois, 40-7; Iowa, 20-14; Wisconsin, 31-14; Northwestern, 21-14; and Purdue, 28-6.

The Buckeyes defeated California 21-13 and Pittsburgh, 26-0 in non-conference games.

Ohio State Named To Play Southern California In Rose Bowl

Buckeyes Take Big Ten Title With 7-0 Mark

Accept Invitation After 21-7 Win At Michigan's Expense

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP) — Ohio State's undefeated football team was named today by the Big Ten athletic directors to meet Southern California in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

The announcement came from the office of Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten athletic commissioner, after telegraphic poll of Big Ten athletic directors.

Ohio State, which closed its season yesterday with a 21-7 victory over Michigan, has accepted the invitation, the announcement said. It'll be Ohio State's third trip to the Rose Bowl and second since the Pacific Coast and Big Ten began the present series in 1947.

Ohio State was beaten by California 20-8 in 1928, but the Buckeyes avenged that defeat with a 17-14 triumph in 1950.

Ohio State finished the season with a 9-0 record, capped by Saturday's stirring 21-7 triumph over Michigan. The Buckeyes won seven conference games also defeating Indiana, 26-8; Illinois, 40-7; Iowa, 20-14; Wisconsin, 31-14; Northwestern, 21-14; and Purdue, 28-6.

The Buckeyes defeated California 21-13 and Pittsburgh, 26-0 in non-conference games.

Giants Knocked From Top Berth By Los Angeles

Van Brocklin, Fears Pass Decides, 17-16

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams maintained their mastery over New York today, scoring an uphill 17-16 victory to knock the Giants out of first place in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League. The Giants' loss, coupled with Cleveland's 6-0 triumph over Philadelphia, shot the Browns into first place by a half game.

Trailing 16-10 at halftime, the Rams, led by their bone-crunching line, throttled the Giants completely throughout the second half and scored the tying touchdown on a 27-yard pass play from Norman Van Brocklin to end Tom Fears. Les Richter's conversion made the difference.

Fumble Sets Up Score

The Rams' decisive touchdown came after they had recovered a fumble by Giant quarterback Charlie Conerly on New York's 32. Conerly, attempting to pass, had the ball knocked out of his hands and Andy Roubustelli, a Ram end, recovered.

Even without Tank Younger, the league's second best ground gainer, who was out with an injury, the Rams outrushed the Giants, 210 yards to 66, and outgained them in the air, 275 yards to 230. Only the unerring toe of Ben Agajanian enabled the Giants to stay in front until 9:25 of the third period.

Agajanian thrilled the Polo Ground crowd of 27,737 who braved the raw and cold weather by booting three field goals, from 33, 18 and 37 yards out. The last one, his 12th in 19 tries, came just as the gun went off ending the half.

The Giants' only touchdown was an 80-yard pass play from Conerly to Bob Schenkel in the first period to put them ahead 7-3 after Richter had put the Rams in front with a 30-yard field goal early in the game.

Giants Lose Gifford

The Giants also lost the services of Frank Gifford, one of the ace backs, for an indefinite period. The former USC All-America suffered an injury to his right knee and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher.

Stops Philadelphia

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21 (AP)—Cleveland's Browns, rising to their greatest defense in four years, beat the Philadelphia Eagles 6-0 today and moved into first place for the first time this season.

Lou Groza accounted for all the game's points with two field goals, one from 10 yards out in the first period, and the other from 32 in the third quarter.

Deep in the fourth quarter the Browns prevented the Eagles from scoring after Philadelphia had gained a first down on Cleveland's one. It was Cleveland's greatest performance since 1950 when they stopped the New York Giants from the three in a divisional playoff.

Aiding the Browns this time was a five-yard penalty assessed against the Eagles for taking too long in the huddle.

The victory gave the Browns a half-game lead over the New York Giants in the race for the National Football League's Eastern Division pennant. New York lost today to Los Angeles 17-16.

In the Eagles' desperate scoring attempt, Neil Worden failed to gain on two line plunges and after the five-yard penalty, two of Thomason's passes fell incomplete. Cleveland ..... 3 0 3 0-6 Philadelphia ..... 0 0 0 0-0 Cleveland scoring: Field goals, Groza 2.

Imitate Successful People, Fr. Kilkenny Tells Champs

St. Patrick's Squad Feted; Special Award To Leonard McKenzie

Kilkenny to Leonard McKenzie for attending all practice sessions and for his outstanding spirit and cooperation.

Others introduced were Larry Geiger, chairman of the Catholic Youth League; Don Harden and Tommy Dunn, St. Mary's coaches and Norman Geatz, Jr., LaSalle High School grid mentor; Rev. Leo Hewitt, Maryknoll Missionary, and C. V. Burns, of the News.

The program was concluded with the showing of movies.

Father Kilkenny, who was host at the dinner, congratulated the coaches, Harold "Buck" Shober and Joseph Chorpenning, Sr., members of the championship squad, the cheerleaders and all those who gave the team their support throughout the season.

Stresses Value Of Athletics

"You learn a great deal on the athletic field," Father Kilkenny stated. "You learn to be cooperative with your coaches and superiors, you learn to be obedient and you learn to give and take. Take both success and failure gracefully. Admire the man who is successful, find out what makes him a success and imitate him. Don't let jealousy enter into your life—rejoice with others who won and have them rejoice with you."

Referring to the "Fighting Irish" tag attached to St. Patrick's champions, Father Kilkenny likened the title to the Notre Dame football team and mentioned such "Fighting Irish" names as the Angelattas, the Cions, the Chorpennings, the Buzzards, the Lepores, etc.

Dr. Leo H. Ley, Jr., served as toastmaster and offered his congratulations to the boys and girls for their splendid showing this season. He introduced Father Kilkenny "as the man responsible for this dinner."

Praises CYL Program

Coach Harold "Buck" Shober praised the Catholic Youth League program and thanked the Mothers' Club of St. Patrick's for the wonderful meal, Father Kilkenny and Sister Raymond for their cooperation and the cheerleaders for their moral support.

Joseph Chorpenning, Sr., assistant coach, thanked the parents for their part in making the season a success and the pastor for "making all come true."

Father John U. Lyness, assistant pastor, called attention to the fact that over half the boys on the football squad are altar boys and lauded the young Shobers—Donnie and Freddie—for their unfailing attendance at the game. "They can't wait until they get uniforms of the 'Fighting Irish,'" he remarked.

In between his pitching, Bratkowski called on the running of two one-time Colts, Billy Stone and Harry Jagade, to keep Baltimore off balance. Stone went over twice and Jagade accounted for the fourth Bear touchdown.

The Bears helped the Colts score their first touchdown with the aid of penalties which beset them throughout the game. Gary Kerkorian threw a screen pass to the Buzzards, the Lepores, etc.

Dr. Leo H. Ley, Jr., served as toastmaster and offered his congratulations to the boys and girls for their splendid showing this season. He introduced Father Kilkenny "as the man responsible for this dinner."

Lyness, assistant pastor, called attention to the fact that over half the boys on the football squad are altar boys and lauded the young Shobers—Donnie and Freddie—for their unfailing attendance at the game. "They can't wait until they get uniforms on the 'Fighting Irish,'" he remarked.

From Coca To Gobel

Well, somebody in the American Telephone & Telegraph Company way out in Denver goofed, and the first thing we knew, there was a picture of Sherman Billingsley sitting down at a Stork Club table, wearing his usual vacant expression. But the voice was not Billingsley's; it was George Gobel's.

Mr. Gobel was talking about Vasco da Gama "who was born in 1460—and how many people can you say that about" and this little spiel was so monstrously irrelevant that I thought he was satirizing Mr. Billingsley whose own record for irrelevance is mighty high. But, no such luck. It was all an accident. The Gobel Show (NBC-TV, 10 p. m. EST Saturdays) comes from Hollywood over NBC and the Billingsley show from New over ABC. ABC's feed of Billingsley got as far west as Denver, when someone pushed the wrong button and sent the video back to New York on NBC. There hasn't been such a hilarious mixup since a TV station in a one station town broadcast the video from one football game and the sound from another one.

Well, I suppose that was as good an introduction as any to the low-key Gobel humor, if you had never been exposed to it before. Presently, Mr. Gobel's own round bland face swam into view. He was talking about his wife who swam into view soon, too.

"How are the children," inquired Gobel.

"Pretty dull," said Alice. "Gregg cut his finger."

"What happened?"

"It bled."

The Gobel humor is pretty hard to pin down. It's a sly, impish humor and it sneaks up on you in unexpected ways. He is essentially a monologuist, one of the best in the business, and he was talking about the vagaries of Hollywood stars: "Some of them are pretty eccentric. I know one star who has four Cadillacs—one for each direction . . . Divorce isn't any more hasty here—just more frequent. Some divorces here start over the silliest things—like marriage. But believe me, married people aren't any more miserable here than anywhere else."

The monologues start slowly but Mr. Gobel is masterful at building them and building them—until presently you're falling off your chair. Wisely, Gobel isn't depending entirely on his own inventiveness, which is considerable, but also has a crack writing team composed of Hal Kanter, Jimmy

Dystrophy Drive Gets Under Way In County Today

Campaign Headed By Fire Fighters

The Fire Fighters March for Muscular Dystrophy begins today in Cumberland and Allegany County and will continue through Thanksgiving Week.

Chief Virgil A. Parker, co-chairman of the drive, last night said that over $30 was contributed toward the campaign on Saturday night during the fifth annual Ladies Night program held by Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Mrs. Lee Silcox presented the first substantial donation to chief Parker on behalf of the local organization.

On Saturday members of Boy Scout Troop No. 2, sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, completed the task of distributing self-addressed envelopes to local businessmen.

Chief Parker and Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, co-chairman, ask that the businessmen contribute generously to the cause.

Individuals desiring to contribute are asked to call General Fire Station and a city fireman, on his off-duty hours, will pick up any and all contributions.

Volunteer firemen throughout Allegany County will join in the campaign to raise funds to combat a disease that shows no mercy on anyone, especially children.

Muscular dystrophy is a fatal disease which afflicts more than 200,000 victims in the United States, including more than 130,000 children.

The firefighters' November "March" will raise funds to support increased medical research about this mysterious killer, to establish more clinics nationwide, and to assist the stricken in the purpose of orthopedic equipment.

Amcelle Honors Five Employees For Service

Allen R. Smith, Route 3, Bedford, Pa.; Dyche V. Grayson, 314 Emily Street, Cumberland; Horner F. Lowdermilk, Potomac Park; James F. McGann, 507 Dilley Street, Cumberland; and Carl F. Donald, Lonaconing, were honored at Amcelle as they completed 25 years of service with Celanese.

Each was presented a gold watch. R. Finley Thompson, plant manager, made the awards to Smith, Lowdermilk, McGann, and Donald. Grayson's presentation was made by Walter N. Hedrick, assistant to the plant manager.

Smith, a spinner, selected a pocket watch. Married, his hobbies include hunting and fishing. In recent years, most of his fishing has been done in Canada.

Grayson is a clerk in the Textile Service Department. He is married and the father of three children.

Lowdermilk is a filtration man in the Spinning Preparation Department. He is married and the father of one son, a student at Allegany High School. Much of his free time is spent as Explorer Advisor to Boy Scout Troop 17, sponsored by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

McGann, a spinner, also selected a pocket watch. He is married and the father of three sons and three daughters. His outside activities include membership in the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 245, the Men of LaSalle, and the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church.

Donald, a jet wiper in the Spinning Department, selected a pocket watch. He is married and the father of two sons. Both attend Valley High School in Lonaconing.

John Bestwick, superintendent of Spinning and Auxiliaries, honored the four Spinning and Preparation employees by awarding each a gold five-star Celanese long-service emblem and engraved certificate.

Byron O. Waite, superintendent of Textile, made similar awards to Grayson.

Two Children Are Burned In Home Accidents

Cochrane Child Is Hospitalized

Two small children sustained burns yesterday in separate mishaps at their homes.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering first and second degree burns was Jay Cochrane, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cochrane, 731 Bedford Street.

Hospital attaches said the child was burned about the face, hands and shoulder. His mother was preparing formula for another baby and the handle of the pan. Mrs. Cochrane was using came off. The child playing nearby was splashed by the hot formula.

Last night the child was reported "resting rather comfortably."

In the other home accident, E. James Martinson, 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martinson, 300 Magruder Street, suffered first degree burns about the left leg when he pulled boiling water on himself.

The child was treated at Memorial Hospital. City Police received a call at 5:45 p. m. and the child was taken to the local hospital. The department requested $9,211,440 for basic aid—$20 per pupil. This year's appropriation was $8,711,000.

A total of $20,106,976, more than one-third of the budget, was requested for the equalization fund. This fund is used to make up the difference between the total cost of meeting minimum education standards and money available.

The figure compares with an estimated $13,595,007 for the present fiscal year.

Bake Sale Tomorrow

A bake sale will be held at First Presbyterian Church tomorrow, starting at 10 a. m., by the Women's Association of the church.

The figure compares with an estimated $13,595,007 for the present fiscal year.

Two Children Are Burned In Home Accidents

Cochrane Child Is Hospitalized

Two small children sustained burns yesterday in separate mishaps at their homes.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering first and second degree burns was Jay Cochrane, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cochrane, 731 Bedford Street.

Hospital attaches said the child was burned about the face, hands and shoulder. His mother was preparing formula for another baby and the handle of the pan Mrs. Cochrane was using came off. The child playing nearby was splashed by the hot formula.

Last night the child was reported resting rather comfortably.

In the other home accident, E. James Martinson, 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martinson, 300 Magruder Street, suffered first degree burns about the left leg when he pulled boiling water on himself.

The child was treated at Memorial Hospital. City Police received a call at 5:45 p. m. and the child was taken to the local hospital.
